The direction in which education starts a man will determine his future life. (Plato)

The five years we spend at Uni High are some of the most important years of our lives. During these years we read and study, we experiment and investigate, and we create. We don't always learn all that is presented to us. Each of us tends to cast out the things he feels will be unimportant for his own life. What we absorb and learn and what we discard determine what we will be capable of in the future.

One of the purposes of Uni High is to provide students with an outstanding secondary education. The education we receive at Uni is the result of many years of experimentation in the content, methods and materials of secondary education. As Uni students, we learn not only from the classes we attend and the homework we do, but also from the extra-curricular activities in which we participate.

And what is the final result? When we leave Uni High, we are better able to realize our goals and aspirations.

Administration

Mr. Robert G. Carlier, assistant principal, and sponsor of Finance, Milk, Lounge, and the Student Activities Program.

This year a five year plan for staffing, curriculum, and building improvements was launched. New ventilation for the locker rooms was installed this year. In later years Dr. Gregorc plans to have new lockers for the locker rooms and install more ceiling tile. He made improvements on old procedures and organizations, and hopes to tie Uni more closely with the university.

Dr. Anthony F. Gregorc, principal.

Mr. William Golden, assistant to Dr. Beberman.

Dr. Max Beberman, director of the Curriculum Laboratory.

Guidance

Mrs. Sandra Zander, guidance department secretary.

Mrs. Sheila Clements, guidance counselor and sponsor of Night Club.

Dr. Thomas McNamara, director of guidance and junior class sponsor.

The counseling office started several new projects this year. The personality and classroom performance ratings, regularly used on college applications were used for the whole school instead of only for the seniors as previously. This enabled the counselors to get to know the students and see them at least twice a year.

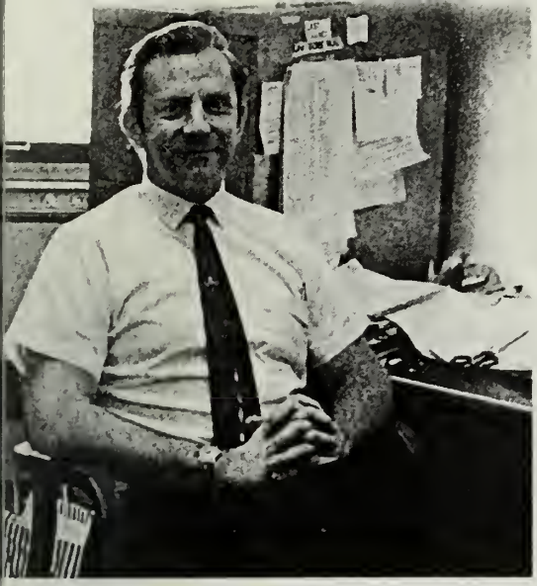
Mr. Glen H. Maw, guidance counselor and Big Show sponsor.

The Faculty Advisory Committee consisted of Dr. Gregorc, Mr. Carlier, and Dr. McNamara with four elected members of the faculty. The committee was called together when Dr. Gregorc found it necessary. The group discussed only what concerned the faculty, and made no rules.

Student-Faculty Advisory consisted of the same members as Faculty Advisory with the addition of Kurt Drickamer and Charles Brichford. It discussed issues pertaining to the students and faculty such as the grading system and the dress code.

Student-Faculty Advisory

Members of Student-Faculty Advisory were, seated: Dr. McNamara, Mrs. Tibbetts, Mr. Jenkins, Charles Brichford, Kurt Drickamer, Mrs. Van Nord, Mr. Royer and Mr. Carlier. Standing: Dr. Gregorc.



Mr. Steven Szabo, junior math teacher.

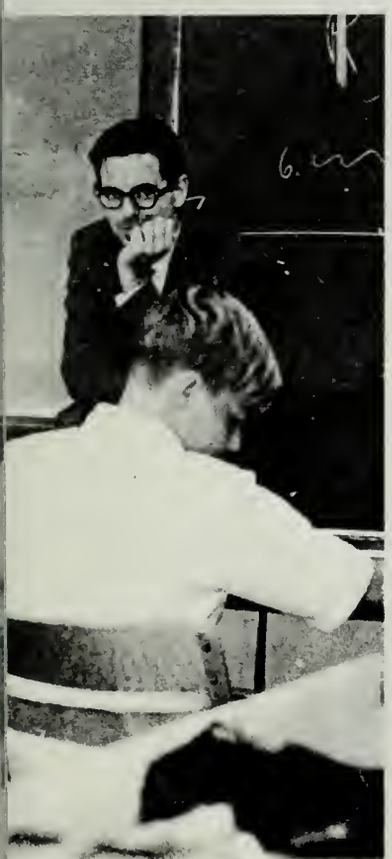
Mr. Michael F. Hettinger, senior math teacher.

Mathematics

The Uni math program covers algebra, informal and vector geometry, trigonometry, and analytic geometry. Students are using experimental materials printed by the Math Project and textbooks, some written by UICSM.

Mr. Clifford Tremblay, junior math teacher.

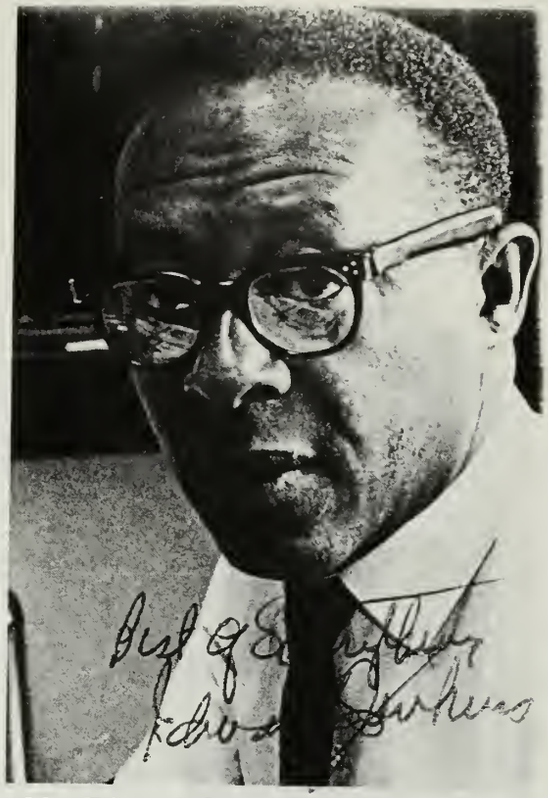
Mr. Peter Rasmussen, sub and sophomore math teacher.



Mrs. Terry Lo, freshman math teacher.

Mr. John W. Ashenfelter, Advanced Chemistry teacher.

Science



Mr. Edward S. Jenkins, Chemistry and Physical Science teacher.

Mr. Richard Knauel, Ecology and Evolution and Molecular Biology teacher.

Offerings in the science department included classes in sub science, an innovation of life, earth, and physical sciences; Introductory Physical Science; Chemistry (CHEMS); Biology (Green and Blue Versions); Physics (PSSC); as well as Advanced Biology, Advanced Physics, and Advanced Chemistry. The courses in advanced science provided considerable opportunities for independent study on the part of the students.

Mrs. Rosalind Driver, Physics and Advanced Physics teacher.

Mr. Keith Hanson, Ecology and Evolution and Molecular Biology teacher.

Mrs. Lois W. Woodruff, Russian IV teacher.

Miss Helen Lamont, Latin I teacher.

Dr. Constance Curtin, Russian I, II, and III teacher and sponsor of the senior class.

Language

This year, Uni High's Language Department continued a quite successful project which was started last year. The project, Independent Study of German and Spanish, was headed by Mr. Pease.

Mr. David W. Pease, German teacher and sponsor of operetta.

Mrs. Carol Unzicker, French teacher and elections committee sponsor.

Mrs. Jaqueline Orrantia, Spanish I and II teacher.

Miss Margaret A. Foley, Latin II, III, and IV teacher.

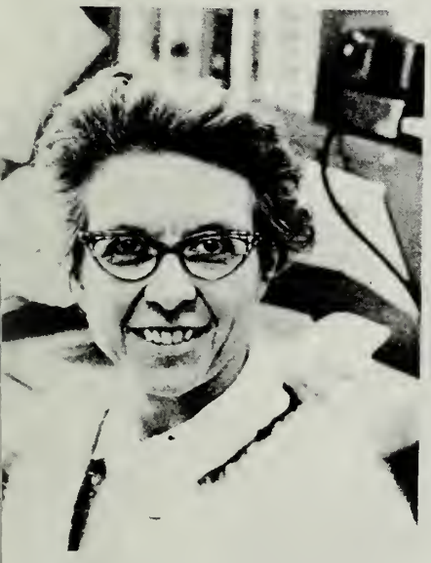
Dr. Edward Levy, senior English and Fine Arts teacher and sponsor of S.T.A.G.

Mr. Alan Lemke, freshman English teacher.

English

Our English department has introduced many new ideas and programs to its curriculum. Seniors this year had an alternative to the previous courses. Mr. Royer held a creative writing class where students may expand on their writing abilities. For part of the year, Dr. Levy's class worked with tutors from Mr. Donald Hogan's class at the U. of I. The semantics unit is being printed into a text called Rhetoric and Thought in Writing, which will be released in 1969. The department has also started to write a new literature text.

Mr. Warren L. Royer, journalism teacher and sponsor of Gargoyle, Yearbook, A-V, and public relations.

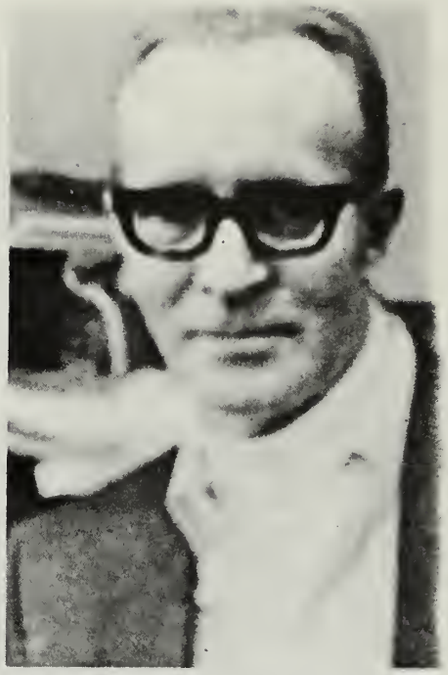


Mrs. Charlene Tibbetts, junior English teacher and Unique sponsor.

Mrs. Mary Lacy, sub and sophomore English teacher and sophomore class sponsor.

Mr. Robert S. White, U.S. History and sophomore social studies teacher and Student Council sponsor.

Mr. Mondeh, one of several foreign visitors, tells the Cultural Areas class about Sierra Leone.



Mr. B.W. Dwyer, political unit and U.S. History teacher and sponsor of P.I.G.

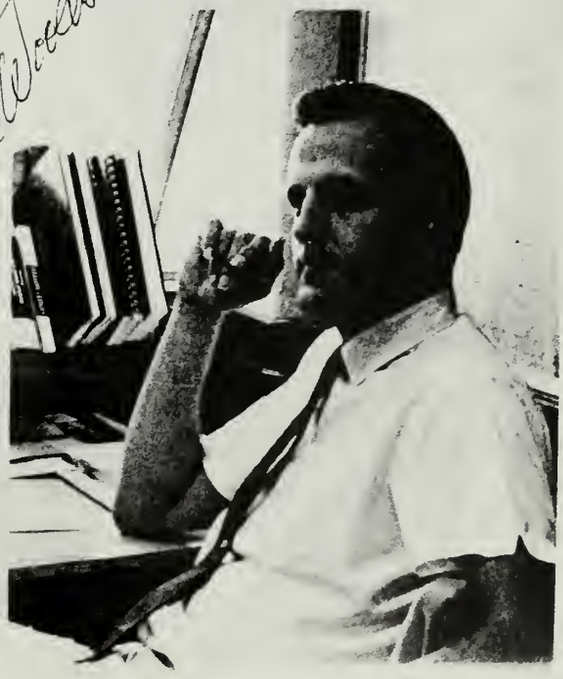
Social Studies

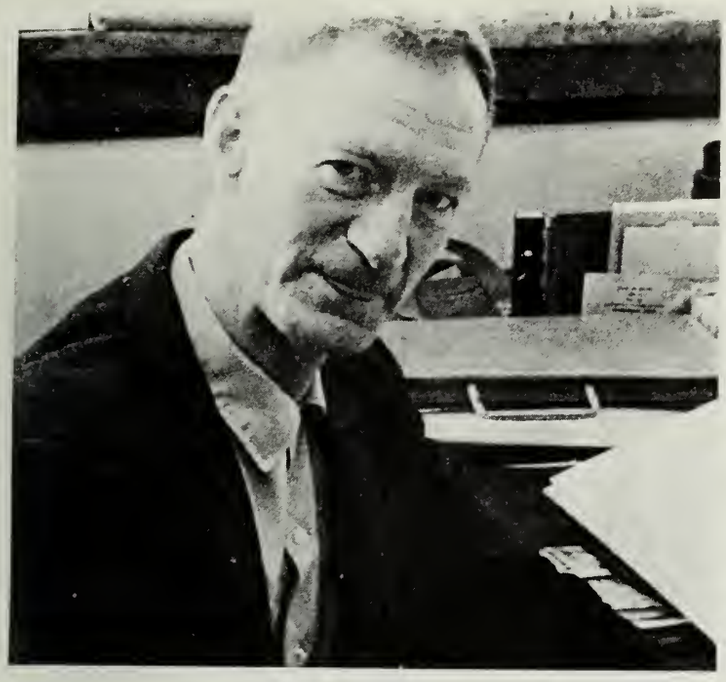
The social studies program at Uni offers four required sequential Courses: I, II, III, U.S. History and the senior electives of Economics, American Government, Cultural Areas in alternate years. In Course I (The Family in Society, Economics: Choice Making, and Community Political Processes) students develop important understandings about social groups in our own culture. In Course II (Man's Physical Environment and Cultural Development) students develop new understandings about man and his earthly habitat, the nature and meaning of culture. As a major activity, students build and excavate a site. Then, in Course II (European Civilization) and in Course III (The Cultural Areas—Sub-Saharan Africa, India, Soviet Union, and Japan) students broaden, deepen and sharpen their social maps of today's world. In addition, the department sponsors a Political Interest Group and the Model United Nations.

Mrs. Ellen C. K. Johnson, freshman social studies teacher.

Dr. Ella C. Leppert, chairman of the social studies department, director of the Social Studies Curriculum Study Center, European History and Cultural Areas teacher.

Mr. Michael Woods, subfreshman social studies teacher.





Mr. Arden Crawford, athletic director, driver education teacher, and J.V. basketball coach.

Mrs. Carol Houston, senior girls P.E. teacher and N.H.R.P. sponsor.

Mr. Melvin L. Adelman, sub and freshman boys P. E. teacher.

Physical Education

Last year's G.A.A. supplied money for new gymnastics equipment. G.A.A. was not continued this year because of lack of response. The Noon Hour Recreation Program, N.H.R.P., successfully completed another year. A new ventilation system was put into the locker rooms.

Miss Diane Wakat, underclassmen girls P.E. teacher and cheerleading sponsor.

Mr. James L. Reed, junior and senior boys P.E. teacher and varsity basketball coach.

Mr. Rich Engelhorn, sophomore boys P.E. teacher, cross country and track coach.

Mrs. Hollis Litrownik, arts and crafts teacher.

Mrs. Muriel Hesse, fine arts teacher.

Mrs. Susan Edelheit, subfreshman art teacher and sponsor of Bulletin Boards Committee.

The art program this year was centered around arts and crafts. The units included textiles, metalwork, jewelry, ceramics, and painting. Sumie ink painting from Japan was taught by Mr. Shozo Sato. The art classes also studied dance and movement, aesthetics, and art history. The students' work was displayed in the third floor hall and at the Spring Arts Festival.

Fine Arts

The music program furnished students with basic skills and provided opportunities to perform and to study musical literature. There was a systematic sight reading program for all chorus members. In March and April, the Chorus, solos, and ensembles participated in state-sponsored music contests.

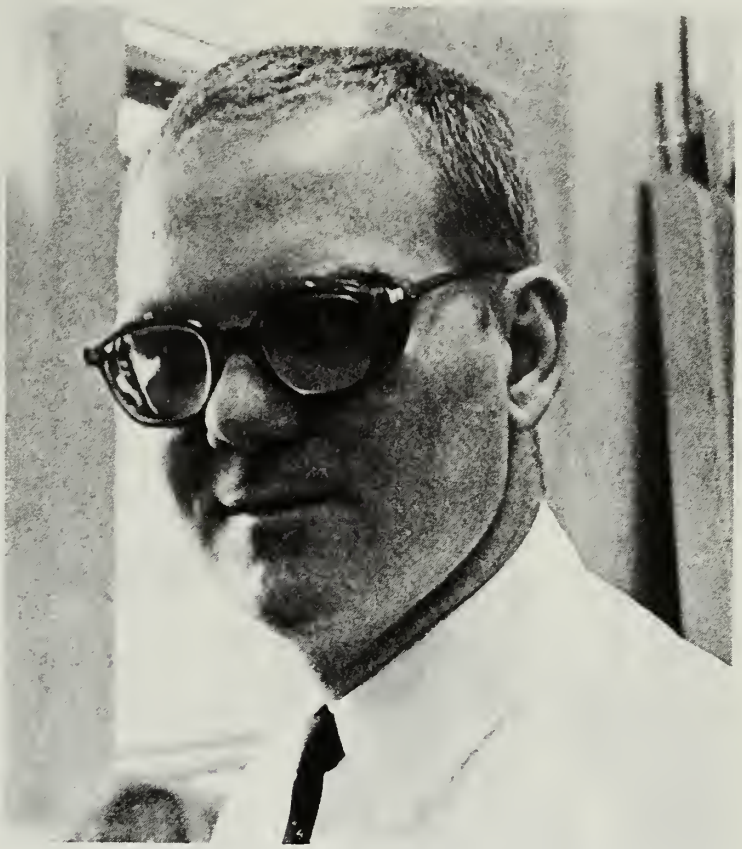
Mr. Charles Render, music appreciation teacher.

Mr. Cornell Runestad, Mixed Chorus teacher and sponsor of Madrigals, Ensembles, and operetta.

Mr. Eugene L. Johnson, instrumental music teacher.

Vocational Arts

Miss Christina Brown, subfreshman Home Economics teacher and advisor to the Home Economics Club.

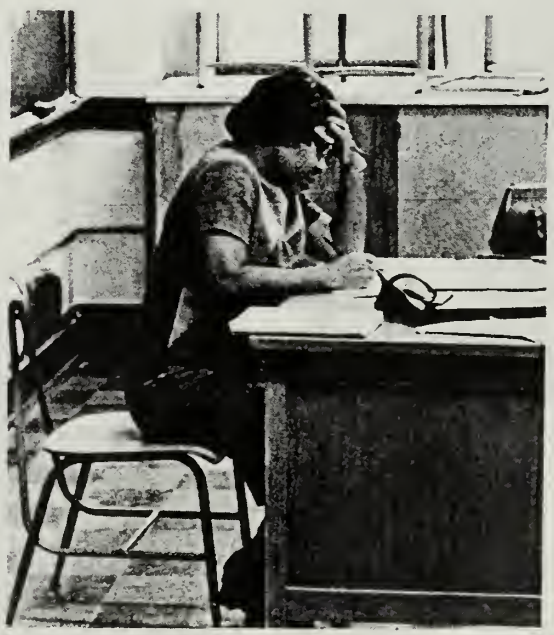


Mr. Richard Henak, subfreshman industrial arts teacher and subfreshman class sponsor.

A new industrial arts program was taught this year based on the ideas developed at Ohio State University. The subfreshman boys were also experimenting with some new products. Their course was very successful as the new second floor hall benches demonstrate.

The Home Economics program for subreshmen is organized for a one semester course, ivided into five major study areas. The first is 'ersonal Development which is aimed at unerstanding yourself. Child Development is the tudy of preschool age children. The unit on lothing and Textiles is concluded with the onstruction of a garment for experience with ewing. The students also study Food and Nurition and they learn to plan balanced diets. he fifth unit is Management during which ney learn to organize their time.

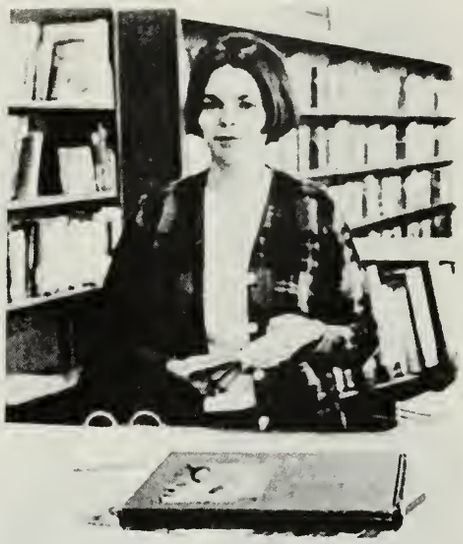
Mrs. Emily Jenkins encourages her stuents to learn to type by giving stars to those ho are the fastest and most accurate typists. heir class has also been doing some experiienting with new ideas—they have been typng to music.



Mrs. Emily Jenkins, Typing instructor.

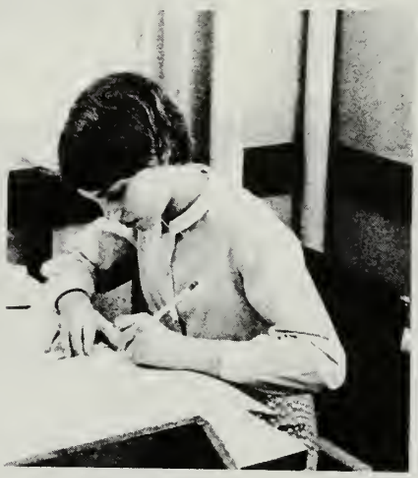
Mrs. Joan VanNord, librarian.

Miss Gail Pohlman, part-time librarian.



Miss Sondra Unertl, library assistant.

Library



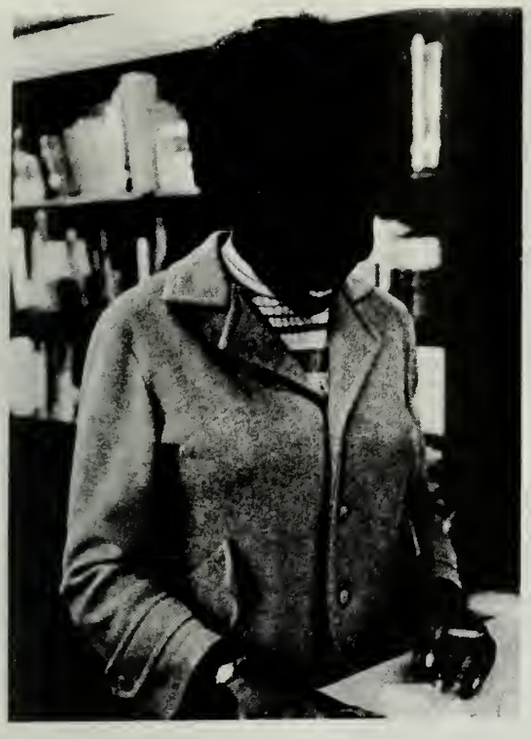
Last summer the library was expanded into the old typing room. Fiction and reference books were left on the shelves in the main library while the other books were moved into room 204. During the school year new furniture and record players were installed.

In January Mrs. VanNord held classes for the Subfreshmen on the use of library facilities and reference materials.

Etcetera

Mr. Raymond Willskey, custodian.

The secretaries in the office were: Mrs. Mary Lou Dulaney, Student Activities Bookkeeper; Mrs. Marvene Armstrong, Receptionist-Reservations; and Mrs. Florence Carson, Secretary-Office Manager.



Miss Geneva Singletary started working in the library as a clerk second semester.

Education Makes the Man

James Cawthorn

In September, 1964, forty-two unknowing subfreshmen descended to Uni High. Math teachers threw erasers and Science teachers wielded yardsticks. We played the political game, read poetry, and were treated to parties (?) at school. Beberman and Company put on a great show. Secret notes typified our sub romances. Friday lunches were eaten at the Union or Bidwell's.

We moved onward and upward (?) to become freshmen. We colored maps, raised (killed?) tadpoles, played pinball at Mooney's, and held a real fun CARE Dance. We had more class parties with satires from MAD magazine and Fatgirl and Flabby skits. Snyder strikes again; Sherwin Gooch and Charles Brichford. Sherwin made the newspapers with his rockets and sending mice into outer space.

We drifted into our sophomore year. The boys wreaked destruction in the language lab. The girls' lab was the scene of frequent parties complete with cakes. The dumb and dumb-dumb Math classes taught themselves. For other dumb-dumbs, Chemistry help sessions were held during the noon hours. Phlogiston and Adam Smith were gods. A trilogy was written, as it were. Appendicitis on the night before exams? A genuine grass-roots movement swept honest Ray Rains into office.

We plodded into our junior year with bits of grass trailing at our feet. Our cross country team captured fourteenth place in the state meet. Fumes from the advanced chemistry class and IGA menthol cigarettes filled the building. We poured out our troubles in Uncle Dan's group therapy sessions. Physics films, featuring the Human Ivy, anesthetized the class. Dracula and the Nauga were gods. Mr. White and Miss Kankaala proved there was some hope for the faculty. "Star Trek" and "Laugh-In" were favorite TV shows. The unbelievable JV's won fourteen straight moral victories. Our "senior slump" continued . . . And now . . . Heeere's Jack . . . Our magnificent study habits stood us in good stead in terms of our term paper. The PSAT, NMSQT, SAT, and ACT forced us to think about college. The boys added expressions like "shooting free throws" and "common property" to their vocabulary. "Solidarity Forever" became our first national anthem. A few of the boys discovered senior girls. Uni High delegates from Michigan and Rhode Island stole the show at the GOP Mock Convention. Despite the efforts of a well-oiled political machine all of its eight candidates were elected. We closed out the year with a hatchet oration unique in the hybris of this conjugate.

We staggered into our senior year and our rightful place as ex-officio gods. Eleven hardy souls re-enlisted in the social studies program. Others filled out their schedules with art or independent language classes. Three-hour lunch periods were spent playing chess in the lounge or pinball at Bidwell's and many spent their weekends at the coffeehouse. The appalling lack of PDA continued. New administrative programs met with some disapproval. Three men of vision founded the Political Interest Group. Hubert Humphrey won our mock election. "The Bird" started a cultural revolution. The persecution and assassination of the senior men as performed by the inmates of fourth hour PE was under the direction of James L. Reed. The basketball team became famous for its hair. The Uni High Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck. Student Council's Executive Committee conducted investigations. Gargoyle asymptotically approached zero.

Good-bye!

organizations

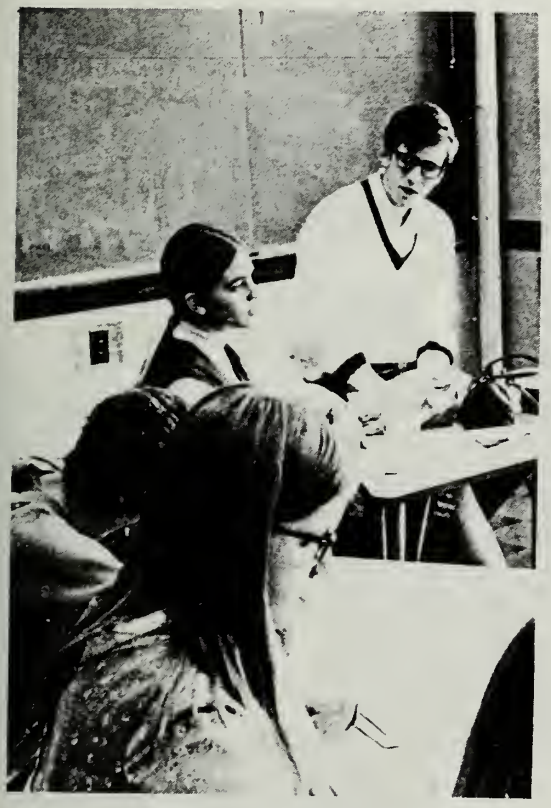
Student Council



Kurt Drickamer and Beth Goldhor preside over a meeting.

Student Council is composed of the president, vice-president, boys' representative, and girls' representative of each class in addition to the president and vice-president elected by the entire student body. Meeting once a week under the guidance of sponsor Robert White, the Student Council's achievements during the first semester included: establishment of student representation on Staff Advisory Committee, liberalization of dress regulations, supervision of Fall Project, appointments of members of various student-service committees, and election of Student Council officers(secretary, treasurer, parliamentarian, and staff advisory representatives Kurt Drickamer and Charles Brichford).

Exec.

Executive Committee met every Thursday noon to plan the agenda for Student Council meetings. Members of this committee were the student council officers and the sponsor, Mr. White. Kurt Drickamer was the chairman.

Executive Committee members were: treasurer John Dietz, secretary Sally Ferguson, president Kurt Drickamer, sponsor Mr. White, vice-president Beth Goldhor, and parliamentarian Charles Brichford.

Finance Committee, seated: Dave Atkin and John Dietz. Standing: Ruth Genskow, John Messman, Zach Schiller, sponsor Mr. Carlier, and chairman Beth Goldhor.

Finance

Finance Committee met Wednesday noons to decide how student money should be spent. Each student paid a semester fee of $8.50, which Finance Committee's budget distributed to student activities such as classes, committees, Fall Project, plays, athletics, and yearbook. Another allocation of the budget was for financial needs not included in the budget.

Handbook members were Patty Froehlich, Henriette Stegemeier, and John Dietz.

Handbook

It was the Handbook Committee's job to organize and assemble a handbook and see that each student and faculty member received one before school started. It included information about the school courses, faculty, and rules and regulations.

Orientation

The members of Orientation Committee welcomed Uni's new students and acquainted them with the school. They arranged for each new student to have a student sponsor, conducted tours of the school, and organized the orientation picnic and Howdy Hop.

Members of Orientation Committee were, seated: Zach Schiller, Bill Weisel, and Dave Atkin. Standing: co-chairmen Patty Froehlich and Beth Goldhor, John Messman, Sherry Lieberthal, Carrie Freeman, Janet Leach, and Anne Hogan.

Members of the Elections Committee were: Sandra Corkins, Debby McCormick, Kim Mast, co-chairman Carrie Freeman, Steve Moeller, Jane Hays, John Dietz, co-chairman Gail Dietz, and Debbie Cross.

Elections

This year Elections Committee, sponsored by Mrs. Unzicker, had a bigger job than most years. The committee held elections for Student Council officers, class officers, and the royalty for dances. In addition to these elections there was a mock national election. It was held the week before the national presidential election and the ballot included everything that the Champaign County ballots included.

Audio Visual

The Audio Visual Committee, sponsored by Mr. Royer, had no specific meetings during the year. The purpose of the committee, headed by Tim Brumleve, was to set up, operate and repair all equipment used for audio-visual teaching aids. Members of A.V. also helped with the sound and lighting effects in the Big Show, the winter play, and the operetta.

This year's Inter-High representatives were Beth Goldhor, senior representative and president of Inter-High; Eric Holshouser, sophomore representative; and Dave Atkin, junior representative. Mr. White was sponsor of the Uni group.

Fall Project

Jill Becker was chairman of F a l l Project this year. Jill organized the event with the help of Big Show c h a i r m a n Peter Bodnar, Night Club chairman Lucy Richardson, and Fall Project sponsors Mr. Maw and Mrs. Clements. This committee organized rehearsals, s h o w s and clean-up. There were two performances of the Big Show w h i c h was in the Gym. The night club in the South Attic featured Tony Zamora and his Jazz Ensemble and a light show.

This year Lucy Richardson was chairman of the Night Club and Restaura Peter Bodnar was chairman of Big Show, and Jill Becker was chairman of al Fall Project.

Lounge

Through efforts of chairmen Kurt Dammers, Dan Gusfield, and Nick Schousboe and the other committee members, Lounge Committee stocked and operated, and often repaired, the Lounge pepsi machine and juke box. Over Christmas vacation, several cans of black and white paint and a beautiful mural done mainly in blues rejuvenated the lounge.

Over Christmas vacation, the lounge was painted black and white. Peter Bodnar painted this mural for the south wall.

Unique

Unique is Uni's creative writing group. Not only do they write themselves, but they encourage the rest of the student body to write and turn in their results to the group. Unique, with the help of its sponsor Mrs. Tibbetts, studies the material, sorts it out and organizes it. Near the end of the year, they put out a literary booklet called Unique.

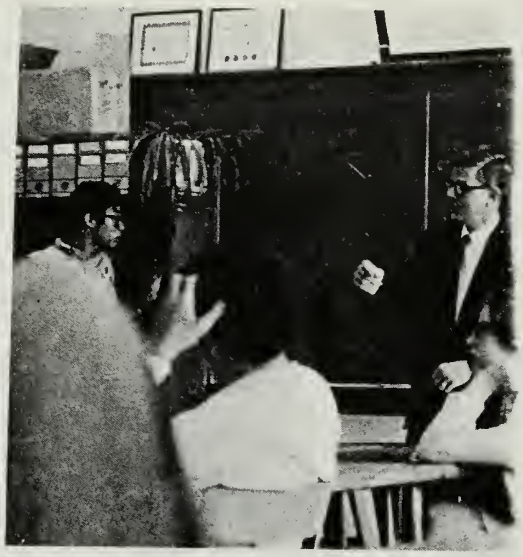
Political Interest Group

The founders and officers of the Political Interest Group were: John Messman, Nick Schousboe, Charles Brichford, Mark Satterthwaite, Alan Applebaum, and sponsor Mr. Woods.

The Political Interest Group, PIG, was formed this year under the direction of the Social Studies department. Meetings were held whenever panels, films, or speakers could be arranged. Members of PIG discussed and learned about controversial events and people. The speakers included Mr. Dan Dixon, former head of the Black Students Association at the U. of I.; Mr. Cameron Satterthwaite, representative to the Democratic Convention last summer; and a draft counselor.



Mr. Satterthwaite answers questions about the convention in Chicago.

Model U.N.

Members of the Uni High Model United Nations represented three African countries: Sierra Leone, Burundi, and Uganda. They discussed resolutions and later met with a group at the University of Illinois. Miss Leppert was the sponsor and Mary Stone was the chairman.

Gargoyle

Editor Kurt Dammers grins over the heads of his staff.

This year the Gargoyle staff experimented with a new idea. The weekly paper (coming out every Friday noon) was kept, but a wire service was added to the format. Every day there were two or more editors to read over the wire, received from one of the local newspapers, and pull out interesting articles. These articles were put on a bulletin board outside the Gargoyle office. The clippings were updated every day and school events were still reviewed in the Gargoyle. The paper, sponsored by Mr. Warren Royer, was headed by editor-in-chief Kurt Dammers. The post of editor changed hands at the semester and Ruth Genskow became editor-in-chief with Debbie Goodman as her associate editor. Not pictured are Greg Walters, Bonnie Mank, Julie Goldberg, Linda Krausz, Paula Rogge, and Debbie Goodman.

U'n'I

The photographers were responsible for the pictures used in the yearbook. Seated on floor: Thane Peterson. Scott Singer, John Dietz, printer; Dave Stice, John Messman, and John Urbas.

Staff members Mary Stone and Ellen Wijsman crop pictures at a U'n'I meeting.

This year yearbook meetings were held every Wednesday noon. In the beginning of the year U'n'I co-editors Kathy Kappauf and Gail Dietz held classes for the new members and later set them to work. Chris Hohn designed the cover and Mr. Royer was the sponsor.

U'n'I editors this year were, seated: Julie Goldberg, underclassmen editor; Ellen Ferber, organizations editor; Mr. Royer, sponsor. Standing: Ellen Marx, events editor; Bonnie Mank, sales manager; Henriette Stegemeier, seniors editor; Kathy Kappauf and Gail Dietz, co-editors. Not pictured: Sue Trupin, faculty editor.

Home Ec Club

One of the Home Ec. Club's projects this year was the collection of food for a needy family. The members also helped each other with sewing and knitting projects. Miss Brown was the sponsor.

Milk

Members of Milk Committee sold milk every day to the students for 4¢ a carton. Milk was sold during the noon hour in the first floor hall. Elizabeth Seyfarth was chairman and Mr. Robert Carlier was the sponsor.

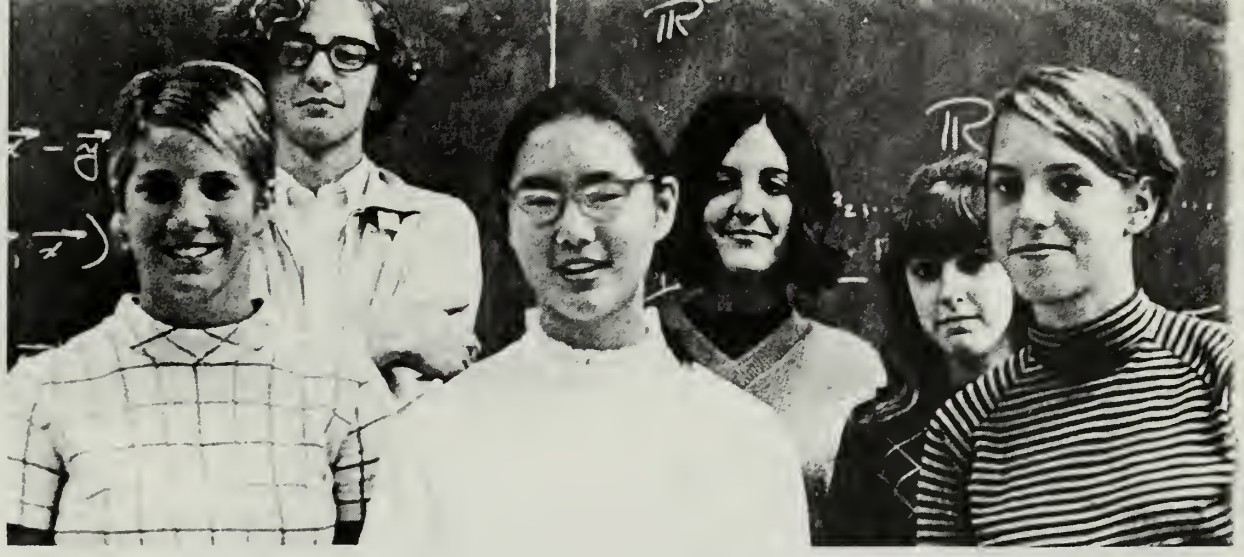
Book Bar



Members of Book Bar: Sue Trupin, Dick Broudy, Marie Chow, Rhonda Cohen, Debby McCormick, and chairman Lucy Richardson. Not pictured: Elizabeth Seyfarth and Katie Rogge.

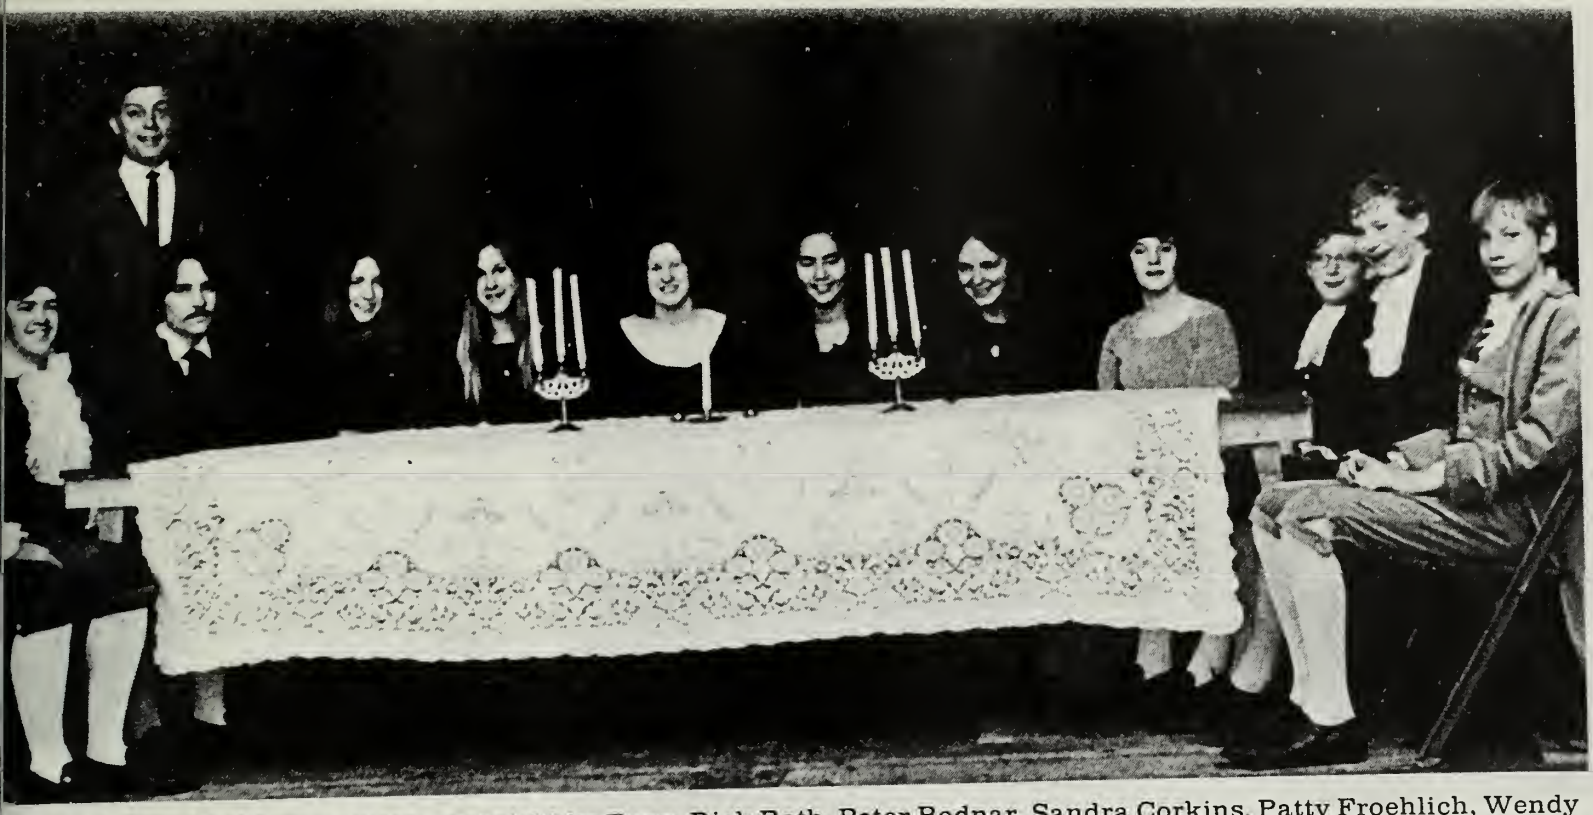
ISHSPA: Gail Dietz, co-editor of yearbook, was Uni's representative to the Illinois State High School Press Association conference.

At the beginning of the school year, Book Bar provided an opportunity for students to sell their old school books and buy used ones at reduced prices. Mr. White, sponsor; and Lucy Richardson, chairman; supervised the book sale.

Bulletin Boards

Bulletin Boards Committee met on Tuesday noons in the art room. The chairman was Debbie Cross and the sponsor was Mrs. Edelheit. The general function of the group was to make and put up publicity on the bulletin boards for the school events.

Members of Bulletin Boards: Debby McCormick, Carrie Freeman, Chairman Debbie Cross, Chandra Muller, Sherry Lieberthal, Henriette Stegemeier, Anne Hogan, Mimi Horner, and Dave Stice. Not pictured: Steve Osborn, Mary Stone, Sue Trupin, Ann Summerfelt, and Sandra Corkins.



The Madrigals this year were, seated: Mike Fung, Dick Roth, Peter Bodnar, Sandra Corkins, Patty Froehlich, Wendy Robinson, Marie Chow, Sally Ferguson, Cheryl Brodsky, Bill Weisel, Peter Burkholder, and Paul Swanson. Standing: Mr. Runestad, director.

Madrigals

Music

The Madrigals sing Christmas carols at the Faculty Surprise Party.

This year the music department was under new direction. Mr. Runestad directed the three choral groups: Mixed Chorus, Madrigals, and Girls' Ensemble. Mr. Johnson directed the six instrumental ensembles. The groups performed at the Christmas Concert and at the Fine Arts Festival in the spring. The Madrigals also had a number of performances outside of the school. In January most of the department's efforts turned to preparing for Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, The Pirates of Penzance, which was given in the end of March. On March 15 the Mixed Chorus competed in a state-wide contest at Arthur.

Girls' Ensemble

Instrumental Ensembles

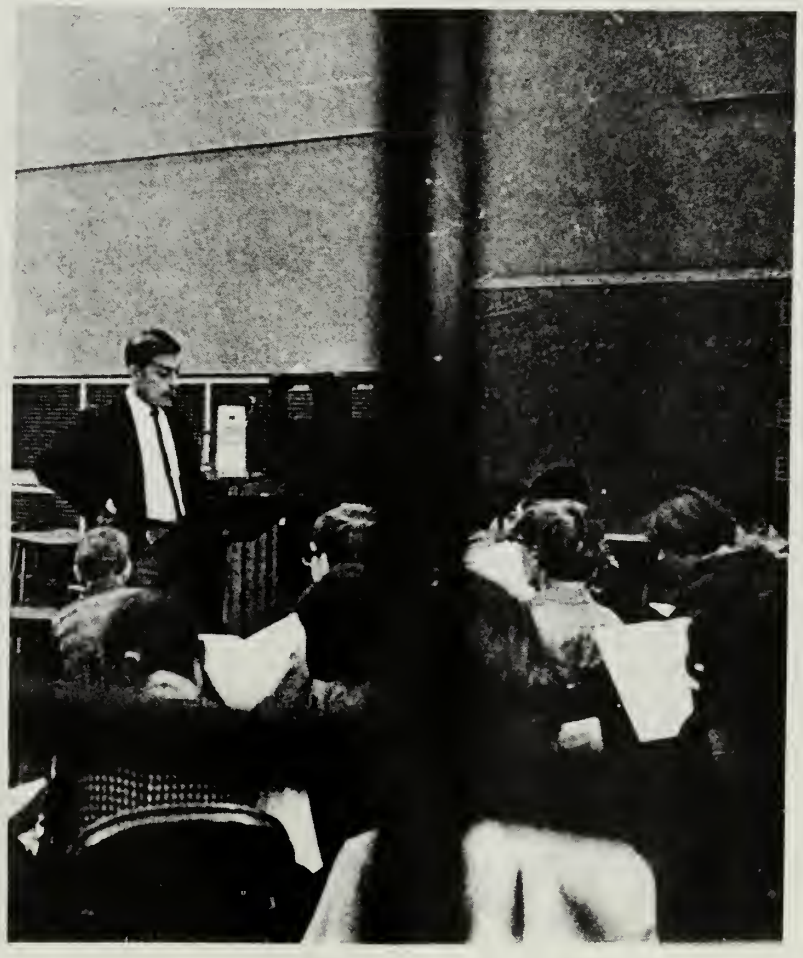
Mixed Chorus

The Mixed Chorus, made up of freshmen through seniors, practiced in the North Attic every Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons from 3 to 4. They sang in the Christmas concert, the fine arts festival, and the commencement exercises. Many mixed chorus members were in this year's Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance."



Mr. Runestad directs the chorus in an afternoon rehearsal.

Kurt Dammers, co-captain, leads the team to victory.

Cross Country

This year's Cross Country team continued in the Uni High tradition of victory. This year's win-loss-draw record of 9-2-1 brought our five-year record up to 47-6-1. Coach Engelhorn's tough workouts throughout the summer and the running season insured consistently good running for the team. The meets this year were increased from a two mile run to a two and three fourths mile run. Uni's home meets were moved to the New Illini Grove.

Co-captain John Dietz makes a strong finish.

Mr. Royer wishes Coach Engelhorn and the team good luck.

The managers for the cross country team were Mimi Horner, Peggy Ore, and Phyllis Brazelton.

Cheerleaders

This year the cheerleaders met every Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 5 with their sponsor Miss Wakat to practice cheers. They held a pep rally at the beginning of the season and cheered at all of the basketball games. This year a bus was not provided for away games so the cheerleaders rode in a university station wagon and spectators had to provide their own transportation.

Varsity cheerleaders were Ellen Marx, Rhonda Cohen, Kathy Kappauf, and Lucy Richardson. Not pictured: Alternate Patty Froehlich.

J. V. cheerleaders were Linda Krausz, Peggy Ore, Anne Hogan, and Mimi Horner. Not pictured: Alternate Jane Hayes.

At the Activities Assembly, Allan Galbraith and Kim Mast show what activities NHRP has to offer.

NHRP, the Noon Hour Recreation Program at Uni, was headed by Kim Mast and Alan Applebaum, and sponsored by Mrs. Houston. In the fall and spring, during good weather, NHRP sponsored football and softball games at Illini Field. During the winter months, NHRP bought several chess sets and held a chess tournament. In February, class volleyball teams were formed and a tournament was held.

U-Club

U-Club is Uni's organization for lettermen. The letters are earned through participation in Cross Country, Basketball, and Track. Mark Satterthwaite was the president of U-Club and the sponsor was Coach Crawford.

Members of the Varsity Basketball team were: Nick Schousboe, captain Mark Hayes, John Messman, Todd Bradshaw, Chris Hohn, Dick Henderson, Dick Broudy, Kurt Dammers, and Coach James Reed.

Basketball

The varsity team had an advantage with height and good shooting but had a record of 1-11 (incomplete). Several people quit the team as the season went on. The junior varsity record was 0-12 (incomplete).

Ya know what? I'm gonna take up this whole page. And I haven't signed it before! At least, I don't think I have. Anyway, I'm glad you were in my Chemistry class to struggle thru with me. It was kinda fun. Have fun in Drivers Ed 1st semester, and don't hit any cars. Thanks a lot for Tommy. It's too bad he had to die. Oh well. I hope you do good on the up-coming exams. I'm sure you will. I can't think of anything to say right now, so..... Anyway — thanks for being my friend and let me know how things are at Crystal Lake and I'll do if anyone sees this bbb

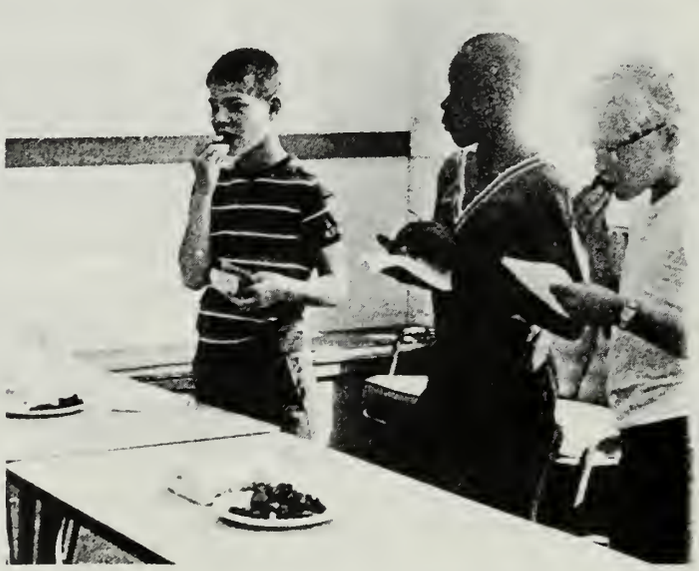
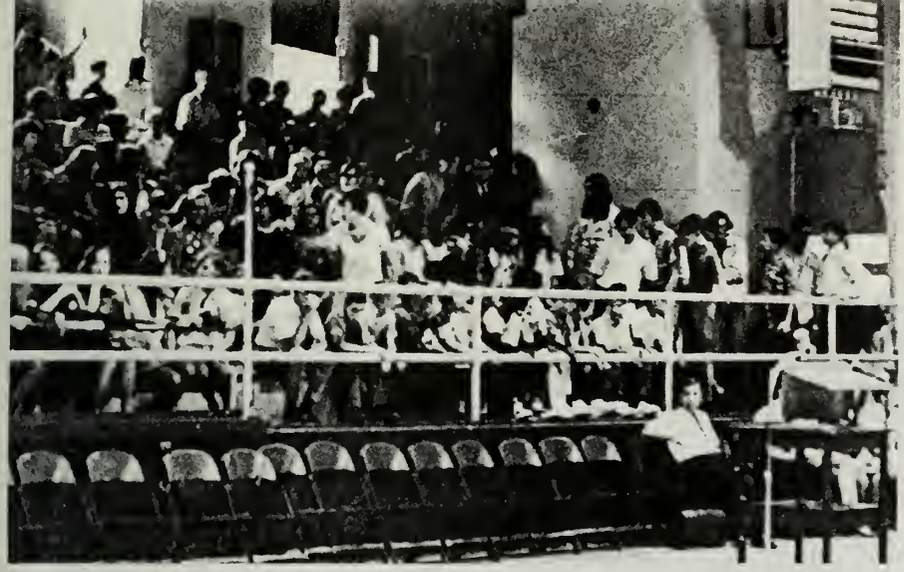
Orientation

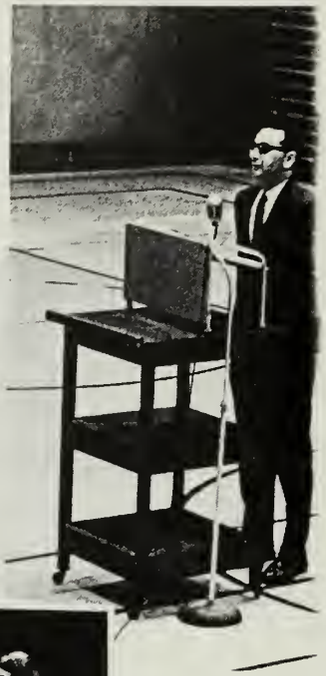
This year's Orientation program was very successful in welcoming new students to Uni High. Last spring, the committee and its chairmen, Beth Goldhor and Patty Froehlich, began planning this year's events. First on the agenda was the Orientation Picnic on September 4. New and old students, and the faculty gathered at Illini Grove for hot dogs, coke, games, and a sing around a bonfire. The Saturday before school started, Orientation Committee sponsored a facilities tour to acquaint new students with Uni High. Other events during the first two weeks of school included the Activities Assembly, the Howdy Hop and a Faculty-Student Tea.



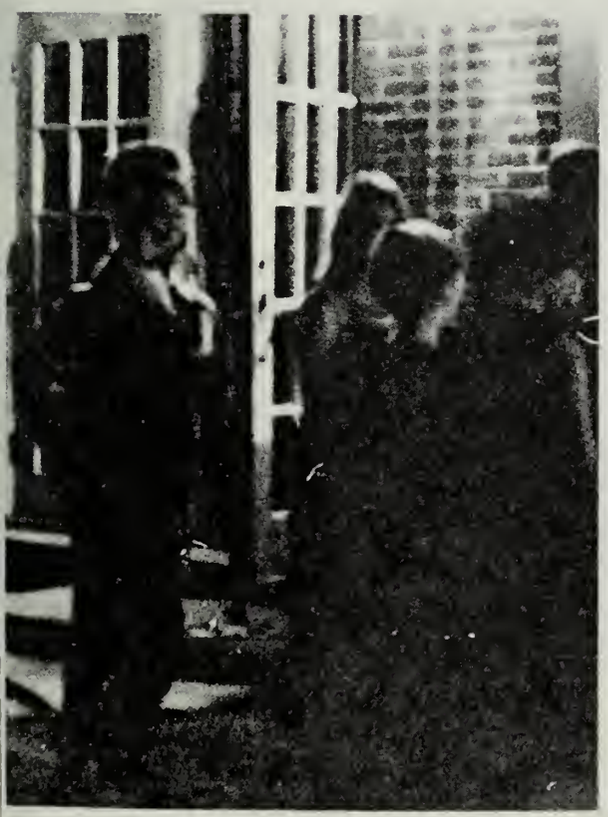
Three new subs enjoy refreshments after a tour of the school.



Uni students begin to get into the everyday school routine by gathering in the gym for the Activities Assembly.



Student Council and the Orientation Committee sponsor the Student-Faculty Tea where new students and faculty can get to know each other.



Students talk outside the Gym at the Howdy Hop on Saturday.

The Illineks start the season with a victory over Monticello.

Cross Country

The cross country team compiled a commendable 9-2-1 dual meet record this year while running against the best area teams. The season was highlighted by victories at the University High of Normal Invitational, Uni's own invitational, and duals with Urbana and Champaign Centennial.

Co-captains Kurt Dammers and John Dietz placed consistently first and second for the Illineks. Coach Rich Engelhorn will have a strong basis for next year's team, as only three of the top seven runners were seniors.

Fall Project

"Fresh Figs", this year's Fall Project, consisted of a Big Show, Night Club, and Restaurant. Jill Becker was chairman of the whole event with Peter Bodnar and Lucy Richardson chairmen of Big Show and Night Club respectively. Mrs. Clements sponsored Night Club and Mr. Maw sponsored Big Show. Peter Bodnar helped to make the Big Show and Night Club truly unique with his scenery and ideas for direction and production of Big Show. The Night Club in the South Attic featured Tony Zamora's Jazz Ensemble, and the Baron and Bailey Light Circus. In the North Attic was the restaurant serving spaghetti and soft drinks.

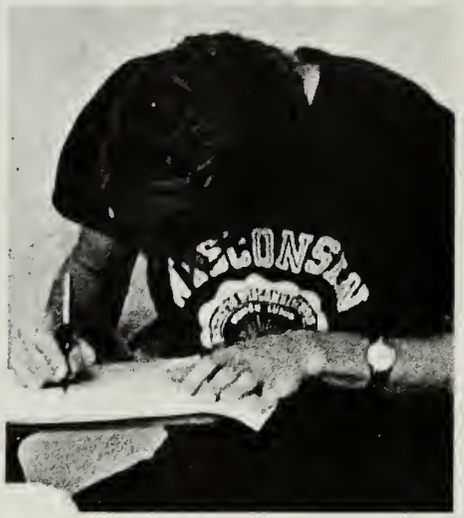
The senior girls sing "We are the Girls from Uni High."

Tim Brumleve plays accompaniment for Phyllis Brazelton's and Mimi Horner's dancing act.

The Girls' Ensemble sing Four Narrative Carols for treble voices and flute by Lloyd Pfautsch.

Choral Concert

This year's Christmas Concert was held on Sunday, December 15 in the North Attic. Mr. Runestad directed the Madrigals, Mixed Chorus and Girls' Ensemble while Mr. Johnson directed several instrumental ensembles. The performance consisted of Christmas music spanning four centuries.



John Dietz and Laurie Gould cast their votes in the Mock Election.

Mock Election

The Mock Election this year was held a few days before the national election. The results showed that the majority of Uni students were in favor of the Democratic program. Uni voted 103 for Humphrey-Muskie against 27 for Nixon-Agnew and 5 for Wallace-Lemay. Democrats Shapiro, Powell, and Clark were elected for Governor, Secretary of State and U.S. Senator respectively. Republican Simon was elected Lt. Governor.

National Merit Scholarship

The National Merit Semi-finalists were, seated: Kurt Drickamer and John Dietz. Standing: Alan Applebaum and Richard Oram.

The National Merit Scholarship Tests are administered annually to high school juniors throughout the country. On the basis of these test scores, the selection of outstanding students to achieve Semi-Finalist status or to receive Letters of Commendation is made. Semi-Finalists compete in further testing for the actual Merit Scholarships.

Students who received National Merit Letters of Commendation were, seated: John Urbas, Tim Brumleve, and Wendy Robinson. Standing: Joe Martin, Charles Brichford, and Elizabeth Seyfarth.

Illinois State Scholarship

This year Illinois State Scholarship awards were given to Paula Rogge, Nick Schousboe, Richard Oram, John Dietz, Mark Hayes, and Kurt Drickamer. Not pictured was Gail Dietz.

High School students in the state of Illinois qualify for the Illinois State Scholarship Programs on the results of an ACT score if taken in their junior year. Semi-finalists are selected, and scholarships are awarded according to need and merit; however, the monetary scholarships may be used only at an Illinois school. This year, all of Uni's semi-finalists received a scholarship of some sort.

The Madrigals, singing Christmas carols, lead the students to the Gym for the annual Faculty Surprise Party.

Christmas

Christmas at Uni was highlighted by the annual Faculty Surprise Party in the Gym. The Faculty program consisted of singing by the Madrigals and a Barbershop Quartet, and the first annual Winter Games. The faculty competed against the student body and won three out of five relays. After ice cream and cookies, students and faculty went home to enjoy the long awaited two-week vacation.

Education has really

only one basic factor,

a sine qua non-

one must want it.

Well . . . . . .

Another years all ——— over. I really don't have much to say; I wasn't with you that much this year. But good luck; I hope you find someone, you deserve it. Well see ya this summer if not sooner, next year. You will be here won't you? Good luck with your math (Va-la) and don't cut your hair! Well, I can't think of anything to take up room so I'll say
